

THE JC PLAYERS REPORT

This year The JC Players celebrate their 25th Anniversary. Based out of Queens, NY, this traveling community theater group performs their summer musical primarily in Middle Village and Glendale. Past shows include Beauty and the Beast, Legally Blonde, 1776, Grease, Godspell and Guys and Dolls. This summer, The JC Players were scheduled to perform The Sound of Music, which has been postponed due to government regulations. The JC Players are nominated for the following Josie Awards for their 2019 performance of Beauty and the Beast: Best Musical, Barbara Auriemma (director), Frank Auriemma (musical director), Benjamin Brosky (best performance by a child), Dahlia Harvey (best performance by a female teen), Charles Hinz (best performance by a male teen), Sarah Svezia (best performance by an adult female) and Christine Hinz (choreographer.)

“The JC Players are not just a musical theater group, we are a family,” says Alicia Brosky, actress, producer and one of the founders of the JC Players when she was just 14 years old. Alicia has also performed alongside her three siblings countless times. “Literally and figuratively!” as her parents are director and music director and her son, Benny, just made his stage debut last summer. “We strive to bring quality theatrical productions to our neighborhood.” The JC Players thank the community for their support through all these years and can’t wait to perform again in the near future.
